

bypassed the damaged nerves or congested area and found another passageway. Or was something else happening?